How to apply for a National Fish and Wildlife Foundation Grant

The National Fish and Wildlife Foundation (NFWF) funds projects to conserve and restore fish, wildlife, and native plants through a variety of grant programs. NFWF awards grants to projects that address priority actions promoting fish and wildlife conservation and the habitats on which they depend. NFWF seeks to fund projects that proactively involve other conservation and community interests, leverage NFWF-provided funding, and evaluate project outcomes. Federal, state, and local governments, educational institutions, and nonprofit organizations are welcome to apply for grants.

NFWF does not fund political advocacy or litigation of any kind, shortfalls in government agency budgets, general administrative overhead or indirect costs, or basic research (including graduate research).

NFWF awards grants utilizing federal funds provided by annual congressional appropriations and agreements with several federal agencies. NFWF also receives and awards contributions from select foundations, corporations and other nonfederal entities.

Please visit the NFWF website at www.nfwf.org for information on the grant application process, including upcoming deadlines and current grantmaking guidelines.
