Deepwater Horizon Oceanic Fish Restoration Project

Form valid from September 7 – October 19, 2021

DEEPWATER HORIZON OCEANIC FISH RESTORATION PROJECT

The National Fish and Wildlife Foundation (NFWF), acting in cooperation with the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA), invites eligible pelagic longline vessel owners in the western Gulf of Mexico to submit a quote for participation in the 2022 repose period (January 1 – June 30, 2022) of the Deepwater Horizon Oceanic Fish Restoration Project.

The full length of the project depends on the level of participation needed to meet restoration goals. The 2022 repose will likely be the last year of the project although a final decision has not yet been made. Project participants may be eligible to take permanent possession of alternative gear following the final repose year. More information will be provided in spring 2022. Complete the Request for Quotation Form – Western Gulf of Mexico (blue) if, as of September 7, 2021, the official hailing port – as listed on the pelagic longline vessel’s USCG Certificate of Documentation – is in Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, or Alabama. If your hailing port is listed in the Eastern Gulf of Mexico (either Florida or the Atlantic Coast), please complete the Request for Quotation Form – Eastern Gulf of Mexico (green) available online here:

I understand that:

- By submitting this Request for Quotation form, if selected for participation, I will enter into a Participant Agreement with the National Fish and Wildlife Foundation stipulating that I will refrain from pelagic longline fishing for a six-month repose period (January 1 – June 30, 2022), and I have the option to renew my Participant Agreement annually upon review of my compliance and performance.

If NFWF does not receive this Request for Quotation form by October 19, 2021, I will be ineligible to participate in the Deepwater Horizon Oceanic Fish Restoration Project in 2022.

- An initial pelagic longline vessel inspection is a requirement for participation. At least one-week advance notice will be given prior to vessel inspection. If upon initial inspection, the pelagic longline vessel does not meet the criteria as described in the 2022 Repose Package, an offer of participation will be null and void. Annual vessel inspections will be required upon renewal.
